

GERMAN PERFORMANCE

38 °C 65 MENUS 20 MINUTES

It gets hot when professionals cook. Blazing heat, full concentration. Every move has to be right, every cog has to click into place. You need strong nerves, know-how and the right tools to produce a convincing performance – from your knives to the porcelain on which the food is presented. The guests don't get to see this battle behind the scenes. They only savour the result. And firstly, it should appeal to their eyes – whether in a gourmet restaurant or in a canteen, at a stand-up reception or a festive banquet, in a hospital or on a Business Class flight. Only professional performance invites guests to enjoy.

PLATFORMS FOR GASTRONOMIC FANTASY

Our products often receive design awards. Naturally, this pleases us but, to be frank, what concerns us more is the feedback from the people who use our tableware all the time. We don't want to be admired in a museum – we're far more interested in daily life in professional kitchens, where imaginative cooking and presentation is going on every day. We want to create new space for this gastronomic creativity. Fresh scope. We offer design that doesn't restrict you but constantly inspires you to create new presentations. That is why SCHÖNWALD porcelain is associated with a discreet elegance which, despite its sublime appearance, always makes way for the food arrangements, providing a platform for culinary inventiveness.

THE RIGHT ANSWERS TO THE LATEST FOOD TRENDS

People these days are very mobile. They eat in bars, hotels and trains. Although people like to enjoy their meals in peace, there is often only time for a hasty snack. Alongside the renaissance of regional cuisine, exotic flavours are also taking the food scene by storm. To keep up with the multicultural diversity of food trends, SCHÖNWALD provides versatile porcelain collections which can perform a variety of duties at the dining table, depending on the role assigned to them by the chef.

INVITING FORMS OF PRESENTATION

SCHÖNWALD knows how to present food in a varied and interesting way, using a wide array of elements. Take EVENT, for example. This hit collection creates a perfect bridge between modern buffet and superior dining. The porcelain from which the guests serve themselves at the buffet is also used at the table. The borders between table and buffet have become porous, thus creating a new harmonious unity. Compelling porcelain pieces are complemented by a product mix of wood, glass, wicker and stainless steel, opening up new dimensions of exciting presentation.

CUSTOMIZED FORMATS FOR SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

If the customer so requires, SCHÖNWALD also develops special formats. These pieces are produced in keeping with the customer's wishes, or for tricky tasks, e.g. airline porcelain, or special formats for hospitals or canteens. After thorough analysis, customized solutions and designs are worked out that precisely match the respective needs. The development process extends from 3D design and 3D models through to production of a porcelain sample.

IDEAS THAT GIVE SHAPE TO A SOLUTION

SCHÖNWALD does not do off-the-peg dining presentation. The best example here is DONNA SENIOR. Those who develop porcelain for individuals with limited coordination have to step into their shoes and study their disabilities. It is only in this way that solutions can be found to make eating easier and to give these people more self-confidence. The special shape of this SCHÖNWALD tableware is barely visible, but it is extremely helpful in answering the everyday problems of older people. SCHÖNWALD is completely attuned to many different needs and demands – because each type of food service calls for different solutions: The demands of superior dining are different from those in works canteens or in hospitals.

4TH GENERATION FOUNDED IN 1879 1,100 EMPLOYEES

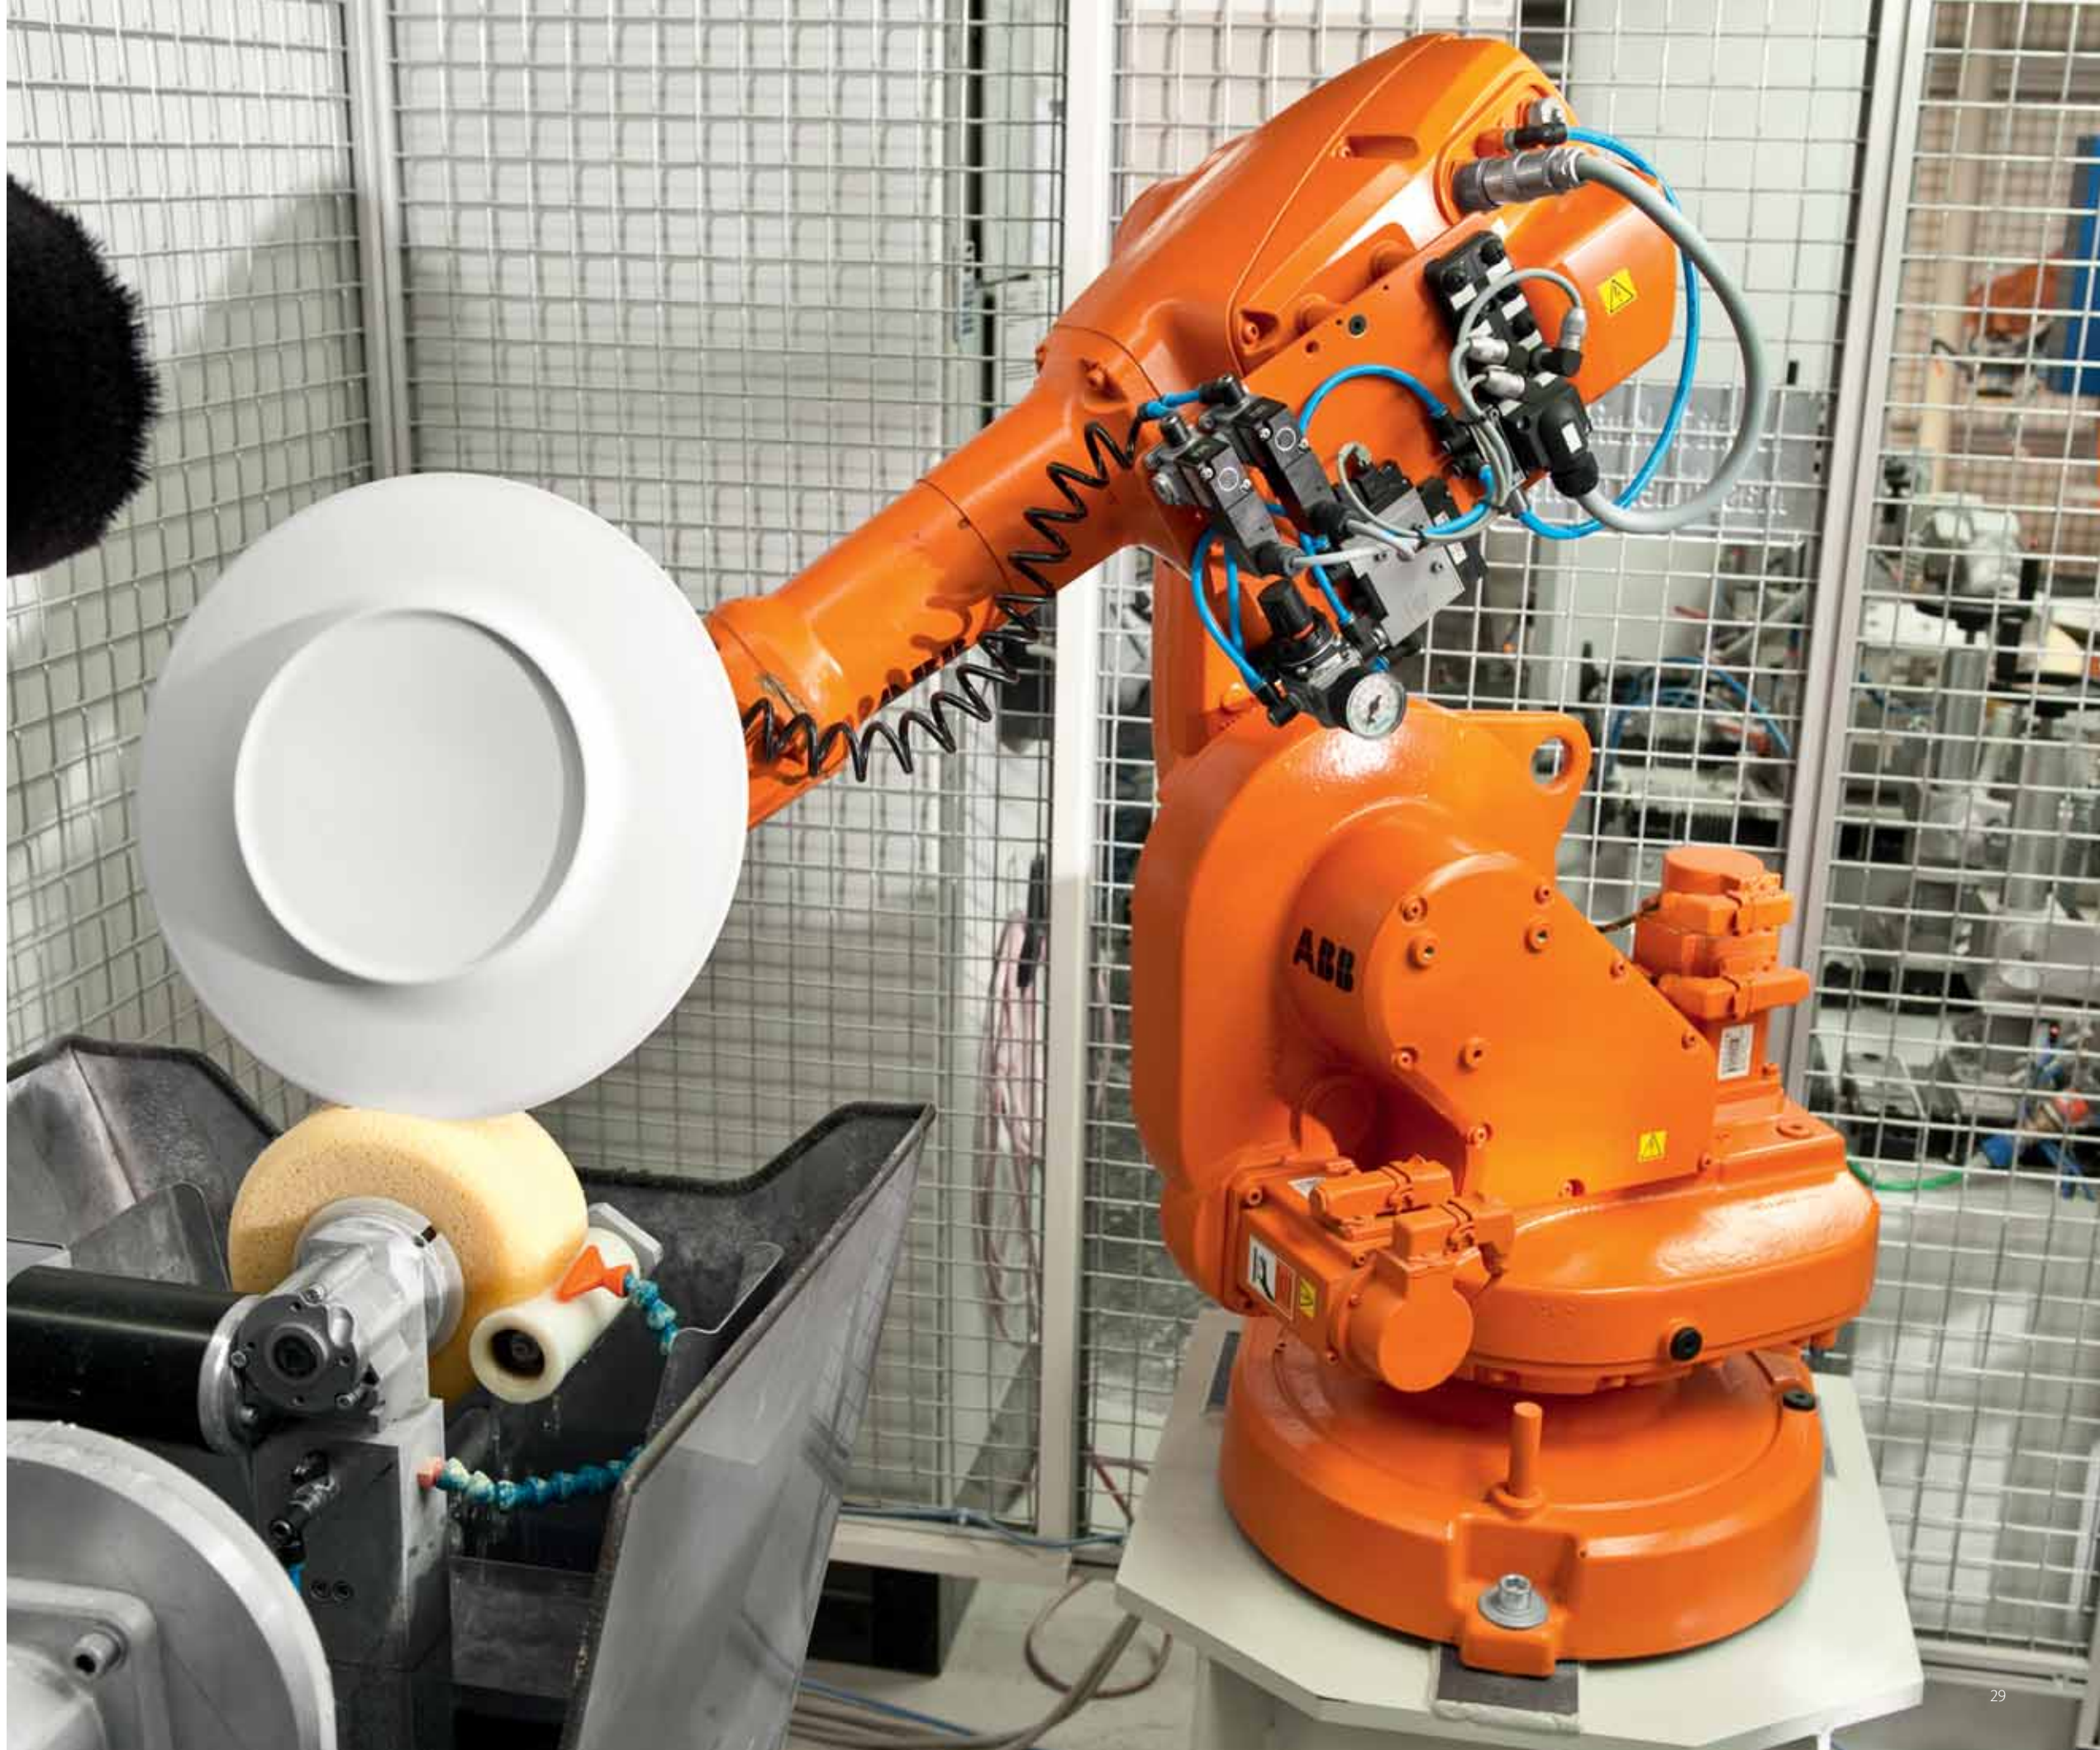

Quality isn't a kind of medal to simply pin on our chest, it's a permanent endeavour to achieve perfection – and we've been striving towards that goal for over 130 years. Manufacturing professional tableware calls for a precise understanding of how that tableware will be used, a great deal of experience and a high level of commitment. That's what our

1,100 employees stand for – just as their forefathers did, in some cases. To ensure that they're always fully up-to-date, we regularly invest in training. Thanks to our employees' high qualifications and commitment, we are able to preserve our manufacturing facilities in Germany.

VORSPRUNG MADE IN GERMANY

Hotel porcelain has to be highly resilient. It takes a special mix of porcelain body and glaze, and an extremely high firing temperature of over 1,400°C (2,600°F) to ensure that the pressures of professional kitchens leave as few traces behind as possible. SCHÖNWALD porcelain is manufactured in one of the world's most modern and highly automated production facilities. A new fast-firing kiln with ground-breaking technology was installed in 2009, offering both a degree of flexibility that was hitherto unknown in the industry, and optimum energy efficiency. The kiln's improved performance contributes to the production of 45 million pieces / 13,000 tons of porcelain per year. This is a technological edge in which double-digit million figures have been invested in recent years. We are securing this edge with continuous research and development.

ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY PRODUCTS FROM GERMANY

Porcelain and the environment go well together. After all, our product is manufactured from only a small number of natural raw materials and has an excellent environmental record. The biggest challenge still remains the substantial amounts of thermal energy that are required during the ceramic firing process. Nevertheless, SCHÖNWALD has successfully reduced its overall energy use by a third over the past 15 years.

CO₂ emissions have been significantly reduced too, thanks to the very latest rapid firing technology and the use of light-weight kiln furniture made of high-tech ceramics. Consequently, SCHÖNWALD is exempt from participating in CO₂ trading schemes. The company has consistently filtered gaseous fluorine compounds, the only harmful substances worthy of note, from its flue gas since as far back as 1990. As far as "sustainable management" is concerned, SCHÖNWALD now successfully recycles all of its raw and intermediate products. It has also put into operation a water treatment facility, launched various energy and water saving projects and reduced the amount of raw materials that it uses. All in all, our résumé is very impressive indeed. In 2012, we became the first company in the industry worldwide to gain ISO 50001 certification, and we are also certified to ISO 14001 in recognition of our exemplary environmental management system.

Our commitment to maintaining our production sites in Germany enables us not only to guarantee our high quality standards, but also to observe environmental and ethical principles when manufacturing our products. At the same time, ensuring occupational health and safety is as much a priority as complying with internationally recognised human rights legislation. In our company, child labour and the exploitation of human beings are unthinkable. After all, we treat people in the same way as we would like to be treated ourselves.

Sometimes things have to move fast. When this is the case, our highly automated decoration and logistics centre (DLC) starts running at top speed. This is where all the threads of planning, order handling, manufacturing, warehousing, transport and worldwide shipping run together. It is a highly complex process to which SCHÖNWALD owes its reputation as a flexible problem solver. There are around 200 employees in the DLC, exclusively dedicated to ensuring that every consignment reaches its destination on time, quickly and undamaged.

THE BEST PROFESSIONAL CUSTOMER CARE AND ADVICE

SCHÖNWALD porcelain's attractive design and reliability are highly prized by professionals in the hospitality industry around the world. Providing our services to customers across the globe is only possible with a highly customized service concept and perfect logistics. Our specialists personally advise each customer, using our broad portfolio to devise solutions that are tailored to meet their needs. Together with the customer, we develop customized solutions all the way through to specially manufactured items – for airlines, for example. At SCHÖNWALD, the customer buys not just a few cups and saucers, but a made-to-measure all-round package which combines professional porcelain of excellent quality with personal care, fast delivery and a long availability guarantee. It is precisely this flexible orientation to special needs and conditions that makes the difference for our customers.

PERSONALIZED CALLING CARDS

Porcelain serves not only to present food in an appetising way. It also has the job of giving the host a personal signature that leaves the guest with a positive impression. The most successful way of achieving this is with a logo or a special decor that harmonises with the given establishment's overall concept. That is why our experts take plenty of time for in-depth consultation. If a customer prefers a personalized decor, our specialists will work with him to develop an idea in keeping with his wishes. We are also happy to visit our customers' premises to capture a feel of the ambience and coordinate our designs accordingly. You decide how restrained or flamboyant, how affordable or opulent the realisation of our suggestions should be. Alternatively, we can offer you a wide range of attractive standard decors, with which you can create special highlights.

OUR MANY TALENTS ARE IN DEMAND ALL OVER THE WORLD

All around the world, superior establishments count on SCHÖNWALD. They value the inspiring variety of shapes, as well as the elegant design and the high functionality. In over 100 countries, SCHÖNWALD porcelain provides a platform for culinary vision. And, by the way, the SCHÖNWALD brand is owned by BHS tabletop AG, the world's market leader for professional porcelain and an international dining culture trendsetter.
